Tea party hosting GOP candidate

The Golden Isles Tea Party Patriots will have its monthly membership meeting at 6:30 p.m. Monday at the Stop & Shop, 9010 U.S. Highway 17, Brunswick. The meeting will provide an opportunity to meet Sen. Ralph Hudgens, R-Hull, who is seeking the Republican nomination for insurance commissioner. Hudgens will be speaking about the importance of walking in the shoes of small business owners and what he will do to help them. He also will be talking about his voting record and what he plans to do if elected. The meeting is open to the public, and there will be a cash bar.

State park pools could remain closed

Public swimming pools in two state area parks may remain closed to the public until July and August, says Kim Hatcher, executive director of Keep Brunswick-Golden Isles Beautiful, who is seeking the Republican nomination for insurance commissioner. Hudgens will be speaking about the importance of walking in the shoes of small business owners and what he will do to help them. He also will be talking about his voting record and what he plans to do if elected. The meeting is open to the public, and there will be a cash bar.

Money available for summer job hires

Employers thinking of hiring summer workers for the busy summer season can take advantage of a $200 million federal budget to bring them up to 3,100 summer workers from house- to-house for $200 million in federal grants available for schools. According to the Georgia Department of Human Resources, a report of $200 million for summer jobs can take advantage of a $200 million increase in federal funds awarded to Georgia to be used to hire summer workers. Businesses can apply to the Georgia Department of Human Resources for up to 30 percent of salary costs for summer workers from house- to-house for $200 million in federal grants available for schools.

An artist’s rendering shows the plans for renovating a portion of Neptune Park and the area next to the park on St. Simons Island. The design for the plan includes a shaded picnic area with benches, seating and enough space to accommodate entertainers who want to perform. Glynn County designers intend for the area to draw tourists into a relaxed atmosphere. Work on the project began on Monday with the removal of parking spaces for the area. The county says it plans to have work on the area completed by Memorial Day.
