Monthly Key Accomplishments – November 2010

I. Education

Dr. Sheneka Williams, UGA College of Education will submit a proposal to Clayton County Public Schools (CCPS) to conduct a study for the Clayton County Public School’s E-Walk Program. The E-Walk study will incorporate objectives for the “Race to the Top” program. The study will focus on how data collection ultimately affects academic achievement.

II. Economic Development

A. Raye Rawls, Fanning Institute and Lt. Anthony Kessler, Clayton Sheriff’s Department conducted a training workshop on “Conflict Resolution” for the code enforcement officers in Clayton County. The training workshop provided code enforcement officers with vital information to assist them in approaching code violators. Training was one of the top priorities established by the Clayton Code Enforcement Committee.

B. A UGA English class completed an analysis project for Clayton County. The students were asked to analyze Clayton County Government’s new website and provide a report based on the criteria submitted to them by Clayton’s Information Technology Department (IT). Peggy Lacey, Clayton IT Department, assisted students in determining the criteria for the analysis project. The report will be submitted to the Clayton County Information Technology Department.
