Community Health

In June 2012, with the support of the Clayton Archway Partnership Executive Committee and the establishment of a partnership between Archway Partnership, UGA College of Public Health, Clayton County Board of Health (CCBOH) and Southern Regional Medical Center (SRMC), an Archway Public Health position was established to meet the community goal to address the issue of community health. After a competitive selection process, the Clayton County Archway Public Health Professional position was officially created and the successful candidate, Sonja Crutchfield, accepted the position with a target September 1, 2012 start date.
