SparkFun National Tour Stops at Hart County High School
On October 23, as part of the SparkFun National Tour, the Hart County Archway Partnership sponsored a hands-on workshop on building and programming electronics for 40 students and teachers in the STEM cohort at Hart County High School.
(blog post)

Promotional Hart Co. Video Wraps
Hart County partners completed the production of a promotional video for Hartwell and Hart County in collaboration with the Hart County Chamber of Commerce. Filming was done by a graduate assistant from the UGA Grady College of Journalism. The Chamber will use the video at events like the Atlanta Boat Show as well as for visiting groups, on their web site, and at the Georgia Welcome Center on I-85.
(video link)

Archway Partnership Invited to Present at BoR Meeting
Archway Partnership was invited to present at the November 12 meeting of the Board of Regents. Archway Partnership Director Dr. Mel Garber, led the discussion and was followed by Dean Dan Nadenicek of UGA’s College of Environment and Design (CED), and Mr. Jack Edmunds, Chair of the Hart County Archway Partnership Executive Committee. The group spoke about how the Archway Partnership, a Public Service and Outreach unit at UGA, seeks to connect higher education resources to community identified priorities which benefits university teaching and research while enhancing community economic development.