Monthly Key Accomplishments – March 2016

Accomplishments

Downtown Perspectives
Metter Downtown landscape perspectives will be on display during the Another Bloomin’ Festival Saturday March 26. These perspectives were completed in February 2016 by University of Georgia students. Revitalizing the downtown park space has been a priority for the Metter community. With assistance from the Archway Partnership, the efforts of the Metter community and UGA will be recognized by thousands at this year’s festival.

Ongoing Efforts

Outdoor Classrooms, Bike Lanes, and Sidewalks
Archway Professional Catherine Muse and the Metter community are off to a great start. During the month of February, Catherine Muse facilitated an outdoor classroom work group meeting with community stakeholders. This meeting focused on continuing efforts to complete site preparation for the classroom. The Metter community and Archway were able to make great strides and set deadlines towards completing this project.

Also, Candler County government, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Candler County Hospital were all represented during a site visit and consultation meeting scheduled and facilitated by Catherine Muse. During this meeting, Kiley Aguar, an Archway Partnership graduate assistant and student from the UGA College of Environment + Design, presented his work on mapping current and future bike lanes and sidewalks. This project will aid in the community’s expansion and health and wellness efforts.

Looking forward

More to come
After attending the Archway Summit, the Candler County executive committee members are excited and ready for a new year. Looking forward, the Candler County Archway Partnership and Executive Committee will continue to address and prioritizes community needs while expanding their reach throughout the county.
